Schulich Alumni E-Newsletter: August 2016

Help guide the next generation of business leaders - Become a Mentor!

As a mentor your advice, insights and wisdom can impact a student's success. Help our students by assisting them in building strong communication skills and sharing your job search strategies, time management skills and work life balance tips.

The mentorship program begins next month. To volunteer as a mentor, sign-in to the Schulich Alumni Online Community and indicate that you are willing to Mentor a Schulich student.

Reducing landfill waste one coffee pod at a time

Are single serve coffee pods a new eco-villain? If you ask Eugene Ace (BBA '07), that would be a definite yes. That's why after years with a large national company selling coffee products, he developed GoJava. GoJava is a Toronto-based coffee supply company that sells coffee pods online, delivers them to your home or business and recycles your used cups.

Watch for Eugene and his GoJava co-founder Evan Birmann in the upcoming season 11 of Dragons' Den starting October 2016.

Part of the Master's Certificate in RISK MANAGEMENT & BUSINESS PERFORMANCE: Module 2 - Risk Implementation Certificate

September 19 - 22, 2016 (4 days)

Schulich Executive Education Centre (SEEC) is proud to offer a Standalone Module 2: Risk Implementation Certificate: Part of the Masters Certificate in Risk Management & Business Performance

Designed for executives and business leaders with performance responsibility, this four-day module complements the Foundations Certificate and empowers you with the ability to implement your risk management strategies to bring about effective, lucrative actions. Register for this standalone module or sign on for all three to receive your masters certificate.

Gain valuable insight and tools over the four-day program, the second of three standalone certificates that comprise the Masters Certificate in Risk Management and Business Performance. Take advantage of the certificate's world-class faculty of risk management practitioners, academics and professional facilitators.

This program benefits executives and business leaders in a diverse range of business areas, including risk management; finance, accounting and audit; corporate planning and business development; public sector program administration; business operations; marketing, sales and product development; and systems, technology and project management. Participants have included corporate officers and board members, vice-presidents and directors, and senior managers and divisional managers in public and private companies.
