Visa Information

Following are typical expenses for a one-month period in Bangkok:

Getting your Entry Document and Visa

To enter Thailand, you need to obtain a visa by presenting a Sasin-issued letter as part of your visa application to the nearest Royal Thai Embassy or Consulate. Normally you will receive a single or multiple-entry student “ED” type non-immigrant visa valid for three months or less. Important: If you receive a single-entry visa and wish to travel outside of Thailand during your stay here, you must apply for a re-entry permit before leaving Thailand. If you do not do this, your student visa will be terminated and you will be forced to travel abroad to re-apply.

How to apply for a Re-Entry Permit

To leave Thailand, students with a single-entry visa must apply for a re-entry permit at the Immigration Bureau or at the airport before leaving the country. You may request a single entry or multiple entries. The fees are 1,900 Baht for a single permit and considerably more for a multiple permit. You must apply in person and submit a TM 8 application form. Do not forget to bring your passport and a photograph (4 x 6 cm) along with the application fee. (The fee is not refundable.) Student Services can give you information about the nearest Immigration Bureau, or you can obtain a re-entry permit at the airport as you depart Thailand. (More details at <http://www.immigration.go.th>)

*Note: Fees are subject to change.

Health Insurance (Required)

We require all exchange students to have international health insurance to cover accidents and health/medical issues during their time at Sasin. You may optionally purchase additional Thai insurance (accident only) through Sasin while here. The estimated cost* is:

- One module = approximately 2,400.00 Baht
- Two modules = approximately 4,900.00 Baht

Important: Exchange students must advance hospital payments at the time of treatment and claim reimbursement later. You will need to provide your insurance company with payment receipt(s) and a doctor's report for reimbursement.

They will not return your deposit if you stay less than the contracted period. Daily rental rate is 1,000 baht/room/night, and the monthly rate is 14,000 baht/month (twin room with two beds). Upon check in, you must present a two-month room deposit and the one month rental fee, for a total of 42,000 baht.
