Course Outline 2019 (to be updated)

Brief Description:

This course takes students from the classroom into the field where they can see how the theoretical study of business (as well as government policy and NGOs) translates into the practical. It is also designed to enhance students' understanding of management, organizations, government policy and economics by examining these phenomena in the context of countries very different from Canada.

REGISTRATION

Step Two – Submit Your Deposit

Chile/Peru Study Tour: April 21 – 30, 2020

Students must register prior to making a deposit. Deposits received that are not associated with a successful registration will not be granted a space in the course. Registrants will be given 48 hours to complete their deposit upon receiving the payment page link. Failure to do so will result in the space being given to the next student on the waitlist.

To secure your space in the April 2020 Chile and Peru Study Tour, please submit your $500 CAD deposit.

IMPORTANT NOTES:

Space Allocation: Open to MBA and IMBA students who meet course prerequisites. Spaces in the program are reserved on a first-come first-served basis by completion of the registration form (limited spaces available).

Payment Schedule & Cancellation Policy:

Deposits are non-refundable however, if there is a waitlist, the deposit may be refundable if the space can be transferred to the next student on the waitlist up until January 7, 2020. Payment for the remainder of the study tour must be made by January 10, 2020. Any remaining payments made by the cancelled participant may be refundable if the space can be transferred to the next student on the waitlist (if available) prior to the first day of class on January 10, 2020. Cancellations after January 10, 2020 will not receive a refund of program fees. Participants are advised to purchase cancellation insurance to mitigate the risk of any personal emergency that may result in cancellation.

In the event that the minimum number of participants is not met, the Schulich School of Business will cancel the program and students will receive a full refund of their payments to date (including deposit).

All participating students will be required to register in the study tour course, attend a pre-departure session, obtain international travel and medical insurance, required immunization/health documentation, visas (if applicable), and complete waiver and emergency contact forms prior to departure.

The Schulich School of Business reserves the right to change or cancel this Program due to previously unforeseen requirements or circumstances beyond the control of the Schulich School of Business. The Schulich School of Business shall not be liable in any manner whatsoever for any losses, claims or damages resulting from such change or cancellation. The Schulich School of Business shall make all reasonable attempts to prevent the change or cancellation of this Program.
